Independent golf simulator price tracking

HomeSimTracker helps golfers price out a home golf simulator. We track what launch monitors, hitting mats, nets, impact screens, enclosures, projectors, simulator software, complete simulator packages, gaming PCs, putting greens and accessories actually cost at real retailers, and we turn those prices into buying guides and a build calculator. We launched on October 22, 2026.

It is for golfers planning a first garage or basement setup, people upgrading one piece at a time, and anyone watching for a price drop before they buy.

HOW WE CHECK PRICES

Once a day, we recheck the price of every product we track. A complete successful check means every tracked listing was verified and its data saved.

Last complete daily price check: November 25, 2026.

Every successful check is saved to our price history, which goes back to October 23, 2026. We don't estimate or guess prices. If a check fails, we keep the last confirmed price and its date rather than guess.

WHAT WE PUBLISH

- A price tracker with the current price and last-checked date for every product.
- Product pages with daily price history and, for launch monitors, officially sourced specs.
- Buying guides, head-to-head comparisons, and a build calculator.

PARTNERSHIP TERMS

- Affiliate links are disclosed. Some product links are, or may become, affiliate links. If a reader buys through one, we may earn a commission at no extra cost to them.
- Editorial independence. Commissions never decide which products we list, how they are sorted, or what we say about them.
- No payment for placement. We don't accept payment for placement or reviews. Prices, rankings, guide picks and what we say about products are never for sale.
